

Je Karma Trinley Rinpoche (born 1992 in Nepal) is an important scholar of the Karma Kagyu lineage. As one of the greatest Tibetan masters, he was a disciple of the 7th Karmapa and teacher of the 8th Karmapa Mikyö Dorje in the 15th/16th century. The current rebirth was recognised by Sharmapa and enthroned in 2010. This was followed by an education at the renowned Sakya College in Deradun, as well as studies in secular philosophy, Buddhism and Tibetology at universities in London and Hamburg. At the same time, he received significant spiritual empowerments from various Tibetan masters. These teachings have not only enriched his knowledge, but also deepened his practical and spiritual insight, making him a versatile and insightful teacher who is at home in both East and West.
